Robert – thank you for responding to my request for a meeting. Needless to say, I’m disappointed in AT&T's desire not to meet, but appreciate you being upfront. My intent was to find a solution that was good for both parties. I accept this e-mail as AT&T's final position, but I feel the need to let you know that our intent is to move forward with the downtown redevelopment project. It appears this will become an issue with the attorneys. I will notify our Team of your position. We will put an action plan in place and will keep AT&T informed.

Please thank David and Joseph again for coming to Lubbock to meet with us. Have a great day.

Rob – Thanks for the follow up. We are not in a position to absorb any of the costs of the telecom facility relocation in this project. This was the AT&T position that Dave and Joe laid out when they met with you and the mayor and city manager, and it really has not changed.

I’m afraid that that another meeting to merely re-state our position would not be very productive. But I do appreciate your follow up.

thanks

Bob

Bob - thanks again for calling the other day. I hope the conversation gave you a better idea of my intent in the form of negotiations. Do you have any updated information. I am ready for the next step. Hopefully, with the next step, I believe we will know the position of each party and if there is a need for future meetings.. Thanks again for your call.
